GEODIS certified to provide specialized transport services for the defence sector in Poland

GEODIS in Poland obtained the Internal Compliance Programmes certificate affirming its compliance with the highest security standards. This certification enables the company to provide specialized transport services for the defence sector, including the transport of strategically important goods and dual-use goods.

GEODIS, a world leader in transport and logistics, obtained the Internal Compliance Programmes certificate in Poland. This certificate expands GEODIS' capabilities in providing specialized logistics and transport services for the defence sector and companies operating in areas subject to specific legal requirements. This applies to goods, technologies and services of strategic importance, including dual-use products, in accordance with their classification and lists specified in the applicable national and EU legislation.

The certification – issued by CCJ, an accredited certification body operating within the structures of the Military University of Technology – is a confirmation of GEODIS' professionalism and responsible approach to safety, regulatory compliance and control of trade with foreign countries. At the same time, it opens up new opportunities for cooperation with companies that, due to the nature of their business, the purpose of their products or the applicable legal requirements, need a logistics partner with appropriate procedures, competences and a supervisory system.

"This is another step in the development of specialist services of GEODIS in Poland. We send a signal to customers and companies that we are ready to carry out even the most specific products and demanding orders. We guarantee not only high quality of services, but also full confidentiality and compliance, which is crucial in this sector." said Marc Vollet, EVP of European Road Network at GEODIS.

Press release

Obtaining the certificate was preceded by a comprehensive process of preparing the organization, including review and adjustment of internal procedures, audits, employee training, and determination of responsibilities and functions related to the working of the internal control system.

The operation of the Internal Compliance Programmes is subject to constant supervision and periodic reviews and assessments.

Possessing a certified Internal Compliance Programmes strengthens GEODIS' competence in Poland in serving customers for whom supply chain security, regulatory compliance, access control to information and proper supervision of logistics processes are of particular importance.

This certification is part of GEODIS' broader sustainability, safety and compliance global strategy, thus confirming the company's responsibility to customers, partners and the business environment.
